

Athletic Night Set For Feb. 17 Features Many Varied Events

Ski Films Will Be Shown Dancing to Conclude Show

The Athletics Night chorus line will reappear at Athletics Night III, slated for Thursday, February 17th, in the Currie Gym as part of McGill's Winter Carnival, according to Bob Paterson, Chairman of the traditional sports festival.

Precision Group
The precision group, long a feature at Athletics Night, were in evidence at Athletics Night I held last December. At the second such event last month, the girls were given a rest from the ordeal of continuous strenuous practicing and did not appear.

Miss Barbara Birkett, trainer of the group and a Phys. Ed. II student, is now lining up twenty-five beautiful young co-eds who have had previous experience in this field and rehearsing is scheduled to get under way at 12 noon today in the Union Ballroom.

Full Support
In an interview with the Daily yesterday, Miss Birkett stressed the importance of full support from all these girls and promised the student body some new and unusual costumes and routines, planned to be fully in keeping with the overall carnival spirit.

Also on the program is a basketball tilt between McGill's red squad and the impressive Y.M.H.A. aggregation. While this is in progress in the main gym, Milt Orr's boys will display their pugilistic prowess against a thus far unnamed local team in the small gym adjoining.

Squash And All
McGill's squash crew will battle it out on the squash courts with an all star team from one of the Montreal clubs. The B.W. and F. gym downstairs will be the scene of the showing of two ski films running as a continuous performance. Movies which are new to Athletics Night this year, have so far met with an enthusiastic reception and the executive committee has made them a permanent attraction this year.

After the athletic events, the two gymnasiums will be cleared and opened out into one large room by a crew of fifty special stewards to make room for dancing which will continue till 1 a.m. to the strains of a well-known local orchestra.

Tickets, which will be handled through the Winter Carnival, are scheduled to go on sale next week in all major campus buildings.

Chemist Tour U. of Montreal

The members of the McGill chapter of the Chemical Institute of Canada will have an opportunity this Friday, Feb. 4, to see what sort of facilities their brother students of Chemistry have at the University of Montreal. A visit to the Department of Chemistry at U. of M. has been arranged through the courtesy of the department and of the C.I.C. at U. of M.

The visitors will be shown everything from the marble-benched and movie-equipped lecture theatres to the three storey tall Vigreux reflux column for fractional distillation, including both undergraduate and graduate laboratories.

Those going on the tour are to meet at 3 p.m. in the Chemistry building at McGill or at 3.30 p.m. at the main entrance to the University of Montreal. There will be no charge except for transportation. The visit will probably be over at 5.30 p.m.

Lunch Time Talk On Differences in India

"Religious difference is at the root of most disagreements between India and Pakistan," declared Mohd Abdul Qayyum Khan Mazi in yesterday's Cosmo Club lunch time speech. "The basic differences between the two religions will continue as obstacles to complete understanding between the two Dominions until education and political maturity becomes more widespread."

The speaker gave an outline of the complex historical background to the present day problems commencing with Moslem invasion of the Indian sub-continent, and tracing the trend of Indian political thought until the withdrawal of the British in 1947.

The speaker was introduced by Tony Manzavinos, who, as the new chairman of the Cosmo Club's public speakers committee has promised some interesting talks for the future.

Manitoba U. Wins Award for Debating

Winnipeg, Manitoba—(CUP)—The University of Manitoba has won the McGoun Cup, symbolic of championship debating in Canada's western universities. Finals were held simultaneously at the four western universities.

Unanimous Decision
Debating on the topic "Resolved that the Canadian Constitution should include a Bill of Rights" Manitoba debaters Art Mauro and Roland Penner, upholding the affirmative, won a unanimous decision from Don MacFarlane and Claude Ellis, representing the University of Saskatchewan, last year's McGoun Cup holders.

In Edmonton defending the negative, Manitobans Sha Sabzali and Charles Smith took a 2-1 decision from Alberta representatives Tevie Miller and Charles Virtue.

In debates held at Vancouver and Saskatoon, Alberta defeated the University of British Columbia 2-1 and UBC triumphed over Saskatchewan 2-1. Manitoba's home victory, held in Theatre A, Broadway, was the only debate won by an unanimous decision.

Art Mauro, first speaker for the affirmative in the local debate, stressed the fact that a constitutional Bill of Rights is no cure-all for intolerance but he added, "it is a step in the right direction. It is not better to have a written Bill of Rights to solidify the liberties that now exist and to allow the courts to decide the case of a citizen who believes his rights and freedoms have been transgressed upon than to have no basic inherent liberties recognized? Unwritten rights can always be denied by despots."

He continued that a written Bill of Rights would show the people a sure guide to true democracy. This bill would ensure the people that existing rights would not be denied them.

"No legal grounds for your appeal exists if you are denied or deprived of a civil right because no such legal laws exist. Freedom dies from misuse and the only way these sacred rights are safe is when they are placed above the governors."

MacFarlane of Saskatchewan maintained that a written Bill of Rights was unnecessary because "our constitution is not an inflexible revolutionary doctrine but a constitution based on British tradition which recognizes the supremacy of parliament. And because statutory law lags behind public opinion, such a Bill could not protect peoples rights when injustices occur. I cite to you the American constitution with its Bill of Rights as an example of a Bill of Rights which is impotent and futile."

MacFarlane quoted Dr. Samuel Murray Butler when he said, "It is fundamental that liberty is not a grant of liberty by parliament but that parliament is a right granted by people who have liberty."

"Unwarranted public confidence in a Bill of Rights would result in a mass lethargy. A dynamic nation such as Canada cannot rely on a mere document to guarantee its liberties and independence. If we admit the power of government to define liberties for us, then we admit the power of it to take them away from us. In time of emergency,

Technicolor Films Shown to Nurses

In connection with the course on Trends and Developments in Nursing, which is being given at the School For Graduate Nurses, Miss Annamma Jacob recently showed three films on her native India.

One film in technicolor was of the Christian Medical College and Hospital at Vellore, South India. Here, medical students and student nurses receive their training which is of a very high standard and quite similar to that given in Canada. Entrance requirement is matriculation, and all courses are given in English.

Besides the 500 bed hospital itself, there are several branch hospitals in the surrounding district, and twice a week, a travelling dispensary sets up roadside clinics.

The other two films depict the story of an Indian student nurse, her training and her graduation.

Miss Jacob is a second year degree student in administration in Schools of Nursing and will return to India this year to become Superintendent of the Christian Medical College Hospital, of which she is a graduate.

Debate Today

McGill will meet Osgoode Hall in an intercollegiate debate today at 5 p.m. in the new room. The topic will be "Resolved that the Privy Council be maintained as the last Court of Appeal for Canada. Osgoode Hall will uphold the resolution."

McGill will be represented by Gilles Trahan and Ben Lubell, of the Law, while Osgoode Hall will be represented by Messrs. Allan and Sommerville. McGill previously travelled to Toronto to debate the same topic.

McGill will be upholding the action taken by the Canadian Government during this session in introducing a plan to abolish appeals to the Privy Council.

government would be strangled legally."

Said Roland Penner, "a Canadian Bill of Rights is not only a duty to our own moral compulsion but a duty to the cause of freedom throughout the world." While the negative admits that certain injustices have occurred in the past in Canada, they will not admit that these same injustices can occur in the future without a Bill of Rights.

"If the cause of freedom can be carried forward by one Canadian being freed from one religious, racial or color injustice by a Bill of Rights, then the cause and necessity of a written Bill of Rights is established."

Claude Ellis of Saskatchewan admitted injustices occur but he stated that the negative would not admit they occur simply because they are not down in black and white.

In rebuttal, MacFarlane stated that a constitutional Bill of Rights would not guarantee our freedoms in any way more than they do beneath the present system. If the system did not satisfy, the government and the people were at fault. "Human rights cannot be defined by statute for they are inherent in the souls of men," he added.

Total Sales for '49 Annual Above Those of Last Year

With the close of the sales campaign for the "McGill Annual '49" this week, the second last variable in the production of this year's yearbook has been eliminated. Although many students, as usual, failed to meet the sales deadline of January 31st, the total sales figures are already well above last year's total, but so that no student will miss getting his copy the final sales will be made in the Union on Thursday of this week between one and two o'clock only.

Going to Press

The Annual is going to press on Friday of this week and at least eighty per cent of the copy will have been submitted to the printers by the end of next week. "The one big variable remaining is the number of pages of campus life pictures that will appear this year, and the determination of this number rests entirely with the students as a whole. Since every family has a camera, it is hoped that an increasing volume of photos will come into the Union this week."

Last year "McGill Annual '48" was ready for distribution by May 10th which was considered very early for such a book and in view of the very late appearance the year before, but this year every indication is that the Annual will be out by the 15th of April, which is when it will be appreciated most by all of the students concerned, but extra copies cannot be printed for sale at that time.

Enough students have already ordered their copies so that through careful management there is no chance of the Annual resulting in a financial deficit this year—thus speculation copies will not be printed. The last chance to order will be from 1.00 to 2.00 tomorrow at noon.

The picture of the Annual sales staff will be taken in the Union at 1.15 on Tuesday February 6th. All the 15-plus salesmen will be expected.

Advance Notices

All publicity representatives are reminded that all advance notices must be in before 5.00 p.m. of the date previous to publication. For Monday's issue all notices must be in on or before 12 a.m. Friday morning.

McGill Enters Two Teams In Inter Collegiate Debates

Two debating teams from McGill have been entered in the elimination competition of the Inter-University Debating Team. Bill Archer and Len Beaton have been paired for the negative side while Roland LaPrairie and Peter Sinclair will argue the affirmative side. The competition opens this Thursday when Loyola visits McGill. This debate will be held at 8 p.m. in the Ballroom of the Union.

At the same time Beaton and Archer will travel to Lennoxville to exchange arguments with the representatives of Bishop's College.

Educational Help Given Newcomers

The educational and other assistance given to immigrants by Provincial Educational Authorities, local school boards, and welfare organizations throughout Canada was of the greatest importance in bringing to these newcomers an understanding of the Canadian way of life. Engineers Will Hold Elections

Positions Open For Executive Of Engineers

Following their weekly meeting on Monday, The Engineering Undergraduate Society announced that nominations for the executive positions of the society for the 1949-1950 term are now being called for. The positions which will become vacant at the end of this term are: President, 1st Vice President, 2nd Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Sports Representative.

According to the constitution of the E.U.S., those nominated for the positions of President, 1st Vice President, and 2nd Vice President must be in their fourth year of engineering during their term of office; candidates for the positions of secretary and treasurer must be in their third year during term of office. The Sports Representative may be from either year.

Nominations for these are to be signed by at least ten members of the Engineering Undergraduate Society and no person may sign more than one nomination sheet for any one position. Nominations close at five o'clock, Feb. 11, 1949. The nomination sheets with signatures may be left with Fred Barton at McGill, and at Dawson with Miss Foster in the S.E.C. office.

COTC Dance Friday 25th In Gym Mess

All members of the COTC wishing to get tickets for the Regimental Ball on Friday, February 25th may obtain them from members of the Mess Committee. The members of this Committee are Captain Stalker, Major Tyndale, Cadets Pennyfather, Durrant, and Duper at McGill, while the Dawson representative is Cadet Denman.

These tickets cost $5.00 each, but those wishing to pay for them at the end of March when pay-day rolls around may do so by signing the lists carried by the above individuals. It is to be remarked, however, that in order to sign away the required amount of money, the cadets interested are advised to attend a sufficient number of lectures to cover said amount.

Each cadet may bring two couples as guests, but he must obtain the tickets for them, leaving the subsequent financial arrangements to the said guests. The names of the persons one wishes to bring as guests must be communicated to the person selling the tickets to facilitate the organization of the Ball.

A supper will be served at this dance and table reservations may be made through the COTC Office by phoning BELAIR 3304 on Tuesday, February 22nd, and Wednesday, February 23rd. These tables will accommodate four couples each and will be arranged along the West end of the Gym, leaving the rest of the floor for dancing to the music of the Westernaires.

Liquid refreshment will be served both at the Bar and at a special supplementary booth at an undisclosed location conveniently near the dance floor. Decorations will be of a utilitarian nature in keeping with the military atmosphere of the occasion, but the Mess Committee has promised something out of the ordinary.

As was announced previously, members may wear their uniforms, while it is expected that permission will be granted for all ex-service-men coming as guests to wear their uniforms. It is to be noted that corages are not in order.

Hart House Votes Against British Policy

Toronto—(CUP)—A resolution condemning the present British government policy in Palestine was upheld by a vote of 35 to 34 in a Hart House debate here.

A. K. Dixon, UC, first speaker for the House introduced the resolution. In his introductory speech he said that the particular part of British Foreign policy which deals with the Palestine question is inept and inadequate.

Now that India is independent, the Suez canal and surrounding area is not strategically important. Dixon further expressed the belief, that by supporting the Arab League, Britain is emphasizing the conflict to such an extent that war may result, and that the Arabs and the Jews would have come to an agreement already if it were not for British support of the Arabs.

Britain Acting Wisely

First Speaker for the Opposition was J. Peters, UC, who said that Britain's policy in Palestine is activated by a spirit of fair play towards all. He declared that under the covenant of the UN, Britain accepted two responsibilities: 1, to instruct the Arabs in self-government; and 2, to provide a national home for the Jews. Britain fulfilled both of these obligations, Peters said, but when the Israelis were given an inch, they took a mile. He maintained that Jewish extremists in Palestine are trying for expansion, therefore to protect the Arabs against this, Britain has acted wisely in withholding recognition of Israeli as a state.

J. E. Eberle, SMC, second speaker in support of the motion, expressed the opinion that the main consideration of British foreign policy in Palestine is control of oil and naval bases. The means taken towards these ends, he said, have been badly played power politics. Eberle went on to say that Britain's appeasement of the Arabs has resulted in the continuance of unrest almost to the point of war. In this Britain has blundered, he said, because if war comes to the Near East, Britain's control of oil and naval bases there will not be solidified. Eberle quoted Harold J. Laski, a former British Labor Party leader, as condemning Bevin's policy in Palestine.

Supports Motion

After discussion from the floor was heard, Marvin Gelber, Guest Speaker gave an exposition of the Arab position, the Jewish position and the British position. In drawing conclusions from the facts he had outlined, Mr. Gelber said.

"It is now evident to all that Mr. Bevin's Palestine policy, which he has been pursuing with great vigour for three and a half years, has not served British interest. The entente cordiale between the Jews of Palestine and the United King-

The twenty-six prospective carnival queens nominated by the students at McGill will be present at a tea in the Union Grillroom this afternoon at 4 p.m. where the members of the S.E.C. will narrow the list down to five finalists. The girls will be judged on the basis of personality, physical attractiveness and versatility.

On February 14th, the students will go to the polls to choose which of the five girls will be given the honor of being carnival queen. The other four girls will be her attendants during the four-day mammoth winter festival.

The queen will be crowned by Mayor Houde of Montreal in the Forum on Friday, February 18th.

Among other things, the queen will receive an evening bag, donated by Birks. Her attendants will receive compacts with the McGill crest, their names and Winter Carnival engraved on them. These are also being donated by Birks.

The official deadline for nominations had been set for January 29th. By Saturday evening, 20 nominations had been received. Believing that some entries had not yet been submitted, the committee in charge decided to postpone the deadline until Monday, January 31, at 5 p.m., when six more entries came in. Thus the final total of prospective queens stands at twenty-six.

This is the second year that McGill has sponsored a winter carnival and it is also the second time that a contest has been held to choose a Carnival Queen. Last year the coveted position of Queen was held by Sue Bishop, a second year B.A. student, who is also a member of this year's committee. This year's Queen can expect a great deal of publicity. The pictures of last year's Queen appeared in all the Montreal papers, including the Standard, Toronto papers, and Time magazine.

The committee in charge express their confidence that this year's contest will create as much enthusiasm, if not more, as was shown last year.

The following is a list of those nominated:

Beryl Dickinson-Dash, B.A.3; Patricia Elder, Phys. Ed. 2; Shirley Matheson, Phys. Ed. 4; Anne Dean B.A. 4; Gay Elkington, B.A. 3; Cynthia Plant, B.A. 2; Nancy Johnson, B.A. 3; Jane McKeen, B.A. 4; Mary Macamulay, B.A. 2; Barbara Dornbush, B.A. 4; Cynthia Powell, B.A. 4; Doris "Dodie" Crashley, B.A. 2; Barbara Hodgson, B.A. 2; Dorothy Proulx, B.A. 2; Daphne Stethem, B.A. 2; Ann McLeod, B.A. 2; Bunty Pierce, B.A. 2; Betty Brook, B.A. 3; Virginia Macdonald, B.S. 4; Joan O'Connell, B.A. 2; Frances Currie, B.A. 2; Pego Macnaughton, B.A. 2; Ros McDougall, B.A. 3; Pip McLaren, B.A. 3; Eleanor Blumenfeld, B.A. 2; Mavis Collins, B.A. 4.

ISS Brings Students To Carleton University

Ottawa—(CUP)—Two European students will be brought to Carleton College this year under the "reconstruction scholarship" scheme of International Student Service, Russ Bell, chairman of the Carleton I.S.S. committee has announced.

The scheme has the approval of college officials and the European students will be given free tuition. The drive for funds for I.S.S. will commence at Carleton on March 2, with the objective set at $1,200, Mr. Bell has announced.

Under this scheme one European student under each of two categories is to be brought here for every 2,000 students in Canada. Carleton, as a participating college with less than 2,000 students will play host to one student under each plan. One student will be a displaced person, the other a European not classified at a DP.

During their year at Carleton they will receive financial help from the Dominion I.S.S. while the local committee will have the responsibility of finding them suitable summer employment. The college has agreed to allow them free tuition.

After his college year the DP will, if he qualifies for residence, be allowed to remain in Canada while the other student will be pledged to return to his homeland.

The student will be chosen on a basis of academic qualifications, fluency in French or English, mental ability and moral integrity; by a preliminary selection committee of Canadian faculty members already in Europe. This committee's recommendations will then be forwarded to the college president for his approval.

Fine Arts Course at McGill

Degree & Single Courses Are Open to Students

by Eileen Bowden

Canada has to all appearances become art conscious during the past decade; an art magazine has been founded, there are numerous art societies, including the nationwide Federation of Canadian Artists. The Quebec government has long been aware of her artists here at home, and offers annual prizes and scholarships.

This leadership is still in the pioneering stage—the rest of Canada has not followed. The movement in Canadian painting begun by the Group of Seven, has been upheld by a mere handful of outstanding individuals, who have persevered in spite of the difficulties that confront the artist. Two years ago the disappointed Quebec government reduced its Grand Prix de Peinture from $5,000 to $3,000; the Contemporary Arts Society has dissolved, and looking to the other side we find there is no community assurance for the artist—art teachers have no standards to protect their profession, but most revealing is the unwillingness, and ignorance on the part of the public to learn about contemporary art. Just as with greatness, some are born with understanding, but others must achieve it. Yet there are no art critics' columns in our daily newspapers, and intelligent discussion and analysis of art is limited to intimate circles.

This last year McGill has made a sincere effort to meet these shortcomings, and has established a faculty of Fine Arts. This makes available a four year course, leading to a degree in Fine Arts, in any of three art professions, art teaching, industrial design and commercial art, and professional painting. Furthermore, various courses in art are open to general Arts and Science students.

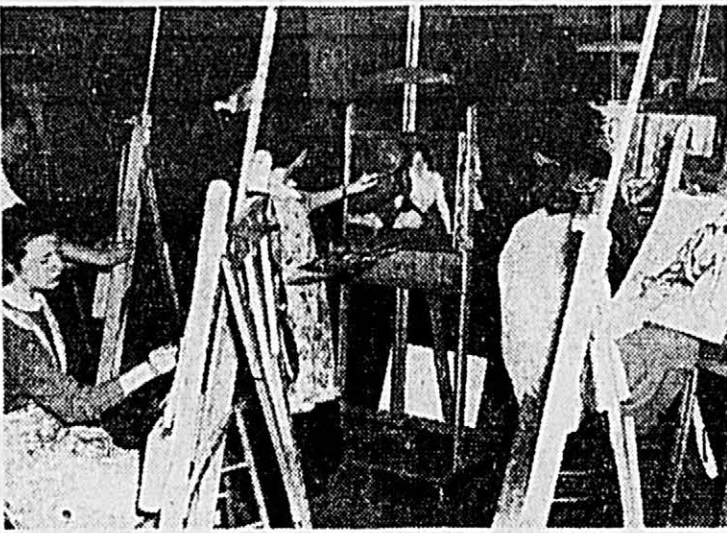

The four year degree course is designed to give the student a background of academic subjects along with basic art experience. In the first year four subjects in the regular Arts division are chosen, in addition to the required five hours studio work. In the second year and second years' drawing and painting classes, but also by the non-professional classes of the extension department. Laboratory facilities simply do not exist. Although handicapped by these limitations of space, shortage of books and equipment, this first year has proved successful enough to insure the ensuing students a well organized syllabus.

To many of the students this is the first serious art training they have encountered. They are introduced to drawing on a new basis, they proceed to Mr. Webber's design class, another conception of the same fundamental factors of art in their abstract visual form, and the net result is a synthesis of all these experiences in creative activity. Taking into consideration the newness of the course and the fact that it was announced so recently, there has been amazing response. Many of the students are from out of town. The majority of the students are women, explained probably by the fact that they intend to enter the teaching profession.

three divisions. In all three courses there is the predominant element of doing while learning. The men elected to the faculty of Fine Arts are well-known in artistic circles. Professor Davis, chairman of the department, is also the Director of the Museum of Fine Arts; Professor John Lyman has long been recognized around Montreal for his work; and Professor Gordon Webber has been in the school of Architecture in McGill for several years.

The Fine Arts studio now occupies the former gymnasium in Strathcona Hall. It is a veritable maze of easels and lockers. This space is somewhat inadequate, for not only is it used for the second year's design class, and the combined first

Advice to the Audience

The director of 'Thunder Rock,' Gene Jousse, has come forward with a sound bit of advice for those students on the McGill Campus who find that there is too much to do. His advice could also be taken by those who complain that there is not enough going on around here.

The months of February and March are filled with a wide variety of activities. If your pocket-book is like Jousse's you may find yourself having to make a serious choice. Which activity will you attend? Now that is a very good question, because most of these Campus efforts are interesting, or colorful, or amusing, and occasionally even a fortunate combination of all three.

Here is what Gene has to say to the student with the average allowance. He believes that the important thing to do is sit down and write out what you would like to attend. You will want to see the Red and White Revue. That is a must. And seeing the Revue is just as important as attending the Winter Carnival. You will be able to attend individual events of the Carnival this year. Both of these shows deserve full Campus backing. Each represents months of preparation. Each will be highly entertaining.

Then, your favorite Ball may be looming. Just watch your expenses here. Tell your gal that you just can't shoot your entire roll on one dance. She will have reason to thank you later. Now if you have taken in three such activities, you will have to take time out to do some studying. And this is where those who complain that there is nothing doing come in. They are the folks who are studying too hard. They should look for an occasional relaxing break.

To those who have money to save, I have little to say. We will see you later. To those who must save, I say: "Save 70 cents, or if you go tandem, one dollar and 40 cents. For either of those amounts will be exactly what you need to complete a full February and begin an active March. See the Revue. See the Carnival. Go to a Ball. Study some. And above all, save 70 cents (or the appropriate multiple thereof) to see 'Thunder Rock'.

Parisian Pianist Visits Montreal

Paul Loyonnet, a pianist of no mean merit, will appear in Montreal at His Majesty's Theatre on February 13, 20, and March 6.

He was born in Paris, and studied there at the Conservatory before giving his first concert at 17. He gave many successful recitals during his first world tour in 1947, playing and lecturing in Spain, North Africa, South America, United States, and Canada. He has toured Latin America and Europe again recently, and is at present in the United States.

At the first recital of this series in Montreal, Mr. Loyonnet will play four of Beethoven's sonatas. The second performance will consist of music of Liszt, Schumann, Brahms, Shubert, Ravel, Debussy, and others. The third concert will be an all-Chopin programme.

Tickets for these concerts may be obtained from Willis or through Les Amis de l'Art.

Canadian Writer Describes Youth

A Canadian book which has chalked up international honors but is almost unknown in this country is the February selection of The Reprint Society of Canada.

CONFESSIONS OF AN IMMIGRANT'S DAUGHTER by Laura Goodman Salverson, a native of Winnipeg, is the story of the struggles of the author and her family to make their own place in a land then cold toward new settlers. Mrs. Salverson is the daughter of Icelanders who came to Canada in the mass migration of the 1880's after a volcanic eruption ruined their land and homes.

She was the first spokesman of a Canadian minority and so far is the only author to win Governor General's Awards in two divisions. In 1937 her novel The Dark Weaver

While There's Life . . .

"Good Players Have Good Cards" is a time-honored slogan which is hereby adopted as the motto of this column. Skill, not luck, is the predominant feature of Contract Bridge, and no player may permit himself the luxury of indifference just because his hand consists of a first class collection of trash.

The South player on today's deal was no grouch, and looked casually at his Yarborough (nine-spot high), while his opponents dashing landed in a grand slam at No Trumps. A final contract of 7 spades would appear more logical, but this was match-point duplicate, and there seemed to be a good play for all tricks at No Trumps.

lead East about the distribution of the suits.

East counted up 12 sure tricks and wistfully dreamed of playing at spades instead of No Trumps! However, all was not lost by any means. . . perhaps the diamond Queen would drop or the club Queen Jack be doubleton. Neither prospect offered any great hope.

Four rounds of hearts and three rounds of spades were played reducing to:

Now the club Ace was cashed but no honor card fell. Then the spade King was laid down and here was where South made the winning play. Obviously North held the club Queen or there would be no problem for declarer. But could North protect both clubs and diamonds in four cards? If South carelessly pitched a small diamond on the spade King, dummy would shed a diamond and North must drop a diamond also. Now East's three diamonds became all winners. But South let go a club and finished off winning the diamond eight spot for the last and setting trick.

The following article has been kindly contributed by Al Ragati, Publicity Manager of the Rensselaer Outing Club. The MOC wishes to say that they were very happy to have the ROC; they are a swell gang and are welcome back any time they come this way again. "And without a doubt we will all shout: 'Let's drink to Rensselaer!'"

THE YANKEES ARE HERE

"The McGill Outing Club very graciously extended an invitation to the Rensselaer Outing Club to use the facilities of the MOC at Shawbridge as a base of operations for skiing trips to the nearby slopes. Having no place of their own the visiting clubbers were quick to accept the MOC's generous offer knowing that a mid-term vacation in the best skiing country in the East could not be equalled. In addition, the opportunity afforded the group to cook its own meals plus the very reasonable rent added up to what the college student is forever seeking — economical recreation.

Eager groups of ROC'ers, seventeen in all, arrived Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights with skis, sleeping gear, wax and all the other paraphernalia so dear to the campers' and skiers' heart.

Snow conditions have been so poor down south that the Rensselaer clubbers hadn't much opportunity to exercise those sking muscles, a fact which soon became evident when the group had their first opportunity to snap on their hickory slats and flash down the slopes of St. Sauveur.

Saturday night saw a crowd of 33 outing clubbers, members of both the MOC and ROC, gather in the MOC house for a truly delectable baked ham supper. After a day of steady skiing no one had to be high pressured to partake of seconds! Hats off to the fair sex for an excellent exhibition of "cooking."

The convenience and enjoyment afforded by MOC house are very sincerely appreciated by the Rensselaer Outing Club. Its members wish to genuinely acknowledge the MOC's spirit of co-operation and comradeship which is making this

IT TAKES ALL KINDS

This sure was a week-end for the MOC! Besides our U.S. visitors we had approximately 35 MOC'ers and on Sunday Faye Rodriguez brought up 30 underprivileged boys for a day of snow and fresh air. Soup, hot dogs and cocoa were served to the kids for lunch and Faye and her assistants are to be congratulated for a swell job.

Five of our hardy types: Len Beaton, Charlie Van Wagner, Viv Cullen, Winston Manson — Hing and Gord Lindsay joined with Col. Baird (Operation Muskox) and the Alpine Club in St. Marguerite on Saturday night for a night of "winter camping." At 25 degrees below zero they can have it! We hear Gordie has a cold; wonder where he got that? ... Sunday Mr. Van Wagner led a group of fourteen on a trail from Mont Roland to Shawbridge. ... MOC Ski Patrolters had a chance to show their skills in splinting two broken ankles at the house. Those ski pole extensions really looked good. ...

PARTY PLANNED FOR FRIDAY

Ski movies: "Ski Pros' Holiday" and others, as well "Woodsmen's Week-end" will be shown at 8.00 p.m. in the Union Ballroom this Friday. A huge SQUARE DANCE the last of the season led by the "Professor", a sing-song "a la Shawbridge" and city slicker dancing will be other features. The old faithfuls will need no urging but we would especially like to see everyone out.

S. C. M.

At 7.30 p.m. every Wednesday night, in S.C.M. house, 3574 University St., there will be a study group on the early Christian Church. The purpose of the study will be to compare the early church's understanding of Christ's teaching with the gospel accounts of his words, to try to arrive at a fuller picture of the persons of Christ. The group will be led by the Rev. John Bishop, and all students interested will be very welcome.

BOB PHIBBS, star forward of the Western Mustang Cagers, who has spearheaded their three victories to date, and will see action against the Redmen Friday.

Dawson Cagers Beat St. Anne Boys 44-31

In an action packed game last night at Orlick's Gym, the Dawson entry of the C.I.A.U. succumbed to their powerful cousins, Macdonald College 44-31. High scorers of the evenings, Tapkie, sparked Dawson's Red and Blues scoring two-thirds of their points.

The Macdonald entry, although slow in starting and falling behind 9-2, soon found the range and came roaring back to score 19 quick points before Dawson countered on a free shot and a basket, to make the half-time score 21-12.

Throughout the second half, Macdonald held their lead, keeping Dawson hemmed in for the first five minutes, scoring 6 points. Caruso, on a fast break, reversed the field, edging Dawson to counter 8 points.

From then on, it was the St. Anne quintet all the way. Led by Tashman, they split the twine for 13 points to Dawson's 4, thus leaving the final score at Macdonald 44, Dawson 31.

Carl Zeke Topkzie, former Kit-chener high school star, led the scoring for Dawson with a total of 20 points, edging out his closest rival, Jack Kashman of St. Annes by two baskets.

Sinking shots from all angles, Zeke was the stalwart of the Dawson team, remaining on the floor for most of the game.

The other high scorers were Davidson of Macdonald with 8, Caruso of Dawson with 7.

Clean Game

The game was well played all the way, the fouls being kept down to a minimum. Both teams were playing close ball, thus resulting in the low score.

This marked the third win for the St. Annes aggregate in five starts, having defeated the powerful U. of M. squad, and Loyola College teams.

Duford and Sharpe To Miss Cage Tilts

This week-end may well decide the fate of Howie Ryan's Senior Basketball Redmen, as far as any hopes of capturing top honors in the CIAU loop is concerned. Journeying to London and Toronto, the Red and White quintet hook up with the league-leading Western Mustangs on Friday night, and then hop a train to the Queen city, where they will complete what may well be termed a "Suicide Week-end," as they take to the polished hardwoods against the winless Toronto Varsity Blues on Saturday night.

Squash Play Terminates

The annual intramural squash tournament has at last reached the semi-final round. Notwithstanding a series of delays resulting from the failure of the participants to play their matches when scheduled, the tournament has at length been narrowed down to four men. The matches played yesterday provided several upsets. P. D. R. MacKell, who was unseeded, whalloped fourth seeded J. McCulloch, 3-0, only to go down to defeat a little later at the hands of Doug Bourke, 3-0. Bourke, who was also over-looked in the seeding, has been showing very well in this tournament, and is a serious threat to first seeded Jim Morrison, whom he plays today. Other matches played yesterday saw Brodeur beat Summery, 3-2, and J. Morrison defeat B. Black, 3-1. Matches to be played today are as follows: 5:15, Jim Morrison vs. Doug Bourke, and Mike Brodeur vs. the winner between Webster and Baxter, who have not as yet played their quarter-final match. The winners of these matches will then play the final match to determine the grand winner. Play your matches when scheduled.

DUFORD, SHARPE OUT

To add to the difficulty of this gruelling roadtrip, Howie Ryan will also be faced with the sad prospect of having two of his top flight performers being sidelined for the majority of the weekend tilts. Diligent Bobby Duford, sparkplug of the big red machine, will not dress for the Varsity fixture on Saturday night, as he will return to Montreal as required. It is expected, however, that the aggressive front line man will be in London for the initial fixture against Johnny Meiras' Mustangs. The other Ryanite who will not be on the McGill roster for both week-end contests, is big Ron Sharpe, who finds himself unable to take this trip.

United Israel Appeal To Receive Cheque

Tomorrow evening, at 8 p.m., Fred Cleman, Editor in charge of the Daily, will present a cheque of $1,300 to the United Israel Appeal Youth Division on behalf of Hillel at a mass rally to be held in the Montreal High auditorium. The guest speaker will be Mr. Shimon Hacoagn, a delegate from Israel. The chairman for the evening, Seymour Cohen, and the programme will feature Cantor Eugene Goldberger, who will give a song recital, the Zimoh Choir will sing, and Miss Mildred Gordo who will present humorous skits.

The rally will be attended by Hyman Goldberg, Chairman of the United Israel Appeal.

The rally is being sponsored by the Montreal Jewish Youth Council.

Mustangs on Friday night, and then hop a train to the Queen city, where they will complete what may well be termed a "Suicide Week-end," as they take to the polished hardwoods against the winless Toronto Varsity Blues on Saturday night.

At the present moment, Howie Ryan's proteges are holding down second spot in the league standings by virtue of their 58-49 victory over the lowly Queens Gaels last Saturday night at the Sir Arthur Currie gym. Sharing the cellar dwelling with the Kingston Clan are the U. of T. Blues, the Masterson-coached outfit having only engaged in one league contest thus far, having been trounced by the high flying Mustangs 42-37 last week-end, this being their third consecutive win in as many tries for the league-leading aggregation.

DUFORD, SHARPE OUT

To add to the difficulty of this gruelling roadtrip, Howie Ryan will also be faced with the sad prospect of having two of his top flight performers being sidelined for the majority of the weekend tilts. Diligent Bobby Duford, sparkplug of the big red machine, will not dress for the Varsity fixture on Saturday night, as he will return to Montreal as required. It is expected, however, that the aggressive front line man will be in London for the initial fixture against Johnny Meiras' Mustangs. The other Ryanite who will not be on the McGill roster for both week-end contests, is big Ron Sharpe, who finds himself unable to take this trip.

To fill this gap in his shattered lineup, Mitchie Garfinkle has been called up from the Intermediate squad, and will probably see action in both weekend tilts. It is doubtful, however, that this newcomer will be a permanent addition to the Senior crew, as the return of Sharpe and Duford next week, will complete the legal CIAU limit of ten men dressing for any single contest.

Mc GILL ROSTER

As far as the rest of the McGill lineup is concerned, it is expected that Howie Ryan will dress his regular crew for each of the out of town engagements. Lanky Bud Fraser and Big Dave Caldwell who alternate at the guard and centre slots, should provide plenty of trouble for the sharpshooters from the Ontario cities, as their advantage in height should stand them in good stead at both backboards. Myer Bloom and Smiley Wilson are also expected to give the Redmen's offensive plans additional power as both these boys have what it takes when it comes to giving the scorekeeper plenty to do with his pencil. Looking In . . . with Mel Pollack Clan Campbell are on their way . . . you can't stop a team displaying the spirit and drive that the Redmen are showing now. . . You lucky fans who saw the Queens-McGill game at the Forum on Friday night got a preview of what the next Intercollegiate Champs look like.

Many observers are included to brush off McGill's overwhelming 10-4 victory over Gene Chouinard's Blue and Gold charges with the comment . . . Friday night's game proved nothing . . . Queens offered the Redmen no competition at all . . . as a matter of fact, the aGels are in the wrong league . . . they wouldn't even be first rate in the Intermediate race. . .

This observer will grant that Chouinard's Boys were no opposition whatsoever, but, we refuse to overlook the fact that probably for the first time this year, coach Campbell led a squad that featured three well-balanced lines . . . "each line displaying the drive, and coordination that is necessary to a championship team."

We are of the opinion that had the visiting team been Les Carabins, or Varsity, instead of the Golden Gaels, there would not have been any difference as to the outcome of the game, although we will admit that the score would not have been nearly so high.

The point is this, the players now realize that they have to go out and win games for themselves . . . they no longer have Jack Gelleneau to do it for them. This, added to that exhibit . . . This, added to the fact that team spirit has never been as high on the Red squad as it is now, accounts for the excellent performance turned in by the Redmen last Friday night . . . sooo, make your reservations now for the championship game between McGill and U. de M.

Say . . . didja notice that couple in the boxes at the South West corner of the Forum on Friday night . . . their acrobatics were really something to see . . . Queens Alumnae no doubt. . . And what about the terrific body check Big Doug Heron threw at Hamilton, the Blue and Gold rearguard, (who by the way, is by no means a lightweight) . . . and what about Ross Parson's second of his three-goal performance . . . skated through the entire Kingston team . . . he just drives and drives . . . couldn't help noticing little Charlie Lafontaine's efforts either.

DRESSING ROOM CHATTER

Have yet to meet a more modest fellow than Rocky Robillard . . . In the dressing room after the game, he wouldn't even admit that he scored . . . and he got two of them. Someone presented Ross Parsons with a scull-cap, for his "hat-trick" performance. By the way, we mustn't forget that the Redmen were minus the services of Tommy Hale, who is probably their best man, and "Suicide" Jim Atkinson. Jim will be back at practices on Thursday, and Hale should be back in time for the game with Les Carabins.

Here's an article of note . . . Chip Chippendale's Intermediate Braves have not had a practice, have not played together, since their last game out at Potsdam two weeks ago . . . What'samatter? . . . their first league game is on Saturday against Loyola at the latter's ice emporium.

Skiing—Senior Squad at Banff Intermediates in Championships

Seniors

McGill University will be sending a representative team to the international intercollegiate ski meet at Banff, Alberta this week-end.

Accompanied by coach Vic Allen, the skiers will leave by TCA at ten o'clock tonight and will have Thursday and Friday to practice before the first event, a slalom, is staged on Saturday. Sunday will see the downhill event on the Mount Norquay trail, scene of the 1948 Dominion Championships, while a giant slalom will be run in the afternoon.

As well as the host college of Alberta, the best competition in the west will be present including University of British Columbia, University of Colorado, University of Utah, and University of Denver.

Star slalomist Jack Griffin will head the Redmen, while John Turner and Ted Kehoe will also make the trip. The other members of the team have not yet been announced pending their Deans' permission.

While at Banff the Redmen will be the guests of George Enell who built the new chair lift on Mount Norquay. The trip has been made possible by the Red Birds club who have raised the money to finance the flying invasion.

Inters.

The University of Montreal trophy will be at stake this week-end when the McGill Intermediate skiers travel to North Hatley to compete in the third annual Canadian Inter-University Ski Championships.

Contending teams from U.N.B., Laval, U. of M., Queens, Sir George, Dawson, O.A.C. and title from the Redmen, who have Bishops will be out to wrest the won it decisively for the last two seasons.

Four event contenders, Bill Dawson and Andy Huggesen head the McGill roster. Both were major point getters in the Redmen's triumph last year. Dawson stars as a long distance jumper, while Huggesen is at his best in slalom and cross country event. Newcomers Bruce Ramsay and John Fry are competing in the downhill and slalom events, while Baird Davis and Buzz Cockfield, two of the best langlaufers in the Laurentians, will carry the Red and White in the jump and cross country events.

Laval University, second in last year's contest, will be out for revenge paced by Elle "the brick" Turgeon, who won the slalom event. Chris Gribbon's U. of M. squad will also have a strong entry including Andre "Superman" Senecal and Guy Gerin Lajoie. Bud Mackley and Bill Murray are expected to make a strong showing for U.N.B., while O.A.C. will be led by 1943 Tschereau champion Malcolm Baker.

The meet will comprise four events with the downhill and slalom slated for Friday, and the cross country and jump on Saturday.

Players' Club Meeting Thursday

The Players Club will hold a general meeting on Thursday evening, at 7.30 o'clock in the New Room. This meeting is expected to be of importance to those who will be working on 'Hello Out There'. The cast of 'Hello Out There' is called to attend this meeting as all the information pertaining to the Drama Festival will be given at this time. The rehearsal of 'Hello Out There' will be held immediately after the meeting. The group scene will be rehearsed first.

The newly elected president of the Players Club, Mr. W. A. Hunter, will give a resume of the future activities of the Club. The recently rewritten constitution will be given its first reading. The new executive will be running its first meeting. Mr. Hunter, known to Club members as 'Rusty' will be glad to welcome any persons who wish to become members of the Players' Club. He is certain that the plans which he has for the future will be of interest to all.

LPP Club to Hold Meeting This Aft.

At five p.m. today an open meeting of the L.P.P. Club will be held at the Union Ballroom. 'The Quebec Padlock Law and Civil Liberties' will be discussed by John Switzman.

Mr. Switzman, who graduated from McGill in Electrical Engineering last year, is well known on our campus. A past president of the Debating Society he represented McGill in many intercollegiate and international debates. He was chairman of the campus L.P.P. Club for two terms, and was Prime Minister of the Mock Parliament which voted to nationalize McGill University.

Before coming to McGill, Mr. Switzman served four years as an infantry officer in the Canadian Army. He resumed his studies after being discharged, because of war wounds.

On Thursday January 27th Mr. Switzman's house at 321 Park Avenue was raided and padlocked by Provincial Police. He, his wife, a veteran of the British WRENS and their twenty month old daughter, Valerie, were put on the street at midnight. At present they are forced to share the five room apartment of Mr. Switzman's mother with three other families.

When asked to comment on the padlocking of his home, Mr. Switzman said, "The Quebec Padlock Law, which deprived my family of their home is an infamous act endangering the civil liberties of all to the government in power. McGill students have always been in the forefront of the fight for the preservation of freedom and civil liberties in our province. I, a citizen who holds views opposed member vividly how they sprang to the defence of the rights of the Jehovah's Witnesses in 1947 and the Dean of Canterbury last year. I am sure that McGill students of today will live up to their fine traditions."

won the Fiction Award and in 1939 Confessions won the Award for prose non-fiction.

Despite these honors her autobiography is hardly known in Canada. It was first published in England where almost every paper hailed it as a literary event, but the outbreak of war halted complete distribution.

Mrs. Salverson, who once again is living in Winnipeg, has published a total of seven novels, some poetry and her autobiography. She won a gold medal for literary merit from The Paris Institute of Arts and Science.

CONFESSIONS OF AN IMMIGRANT'S DAUGHTER was one of the books recommended by the Arts and Letters Section of UNESCO in a list of Canadian books published for the information of people in other countries.

It is the sixth Canadian book offered by The Reprint Society in Montreal and Mrs. Salverson wrote a special foreword for this edition.

The Canadian book society chose Confessions as one of their Canadian selections because it is a brave and authentic book and it was felt a new edition would remedy the neglect the book suffered. The Society also considered that a new edition would be timely now that more immigrants are settling in Canada.
